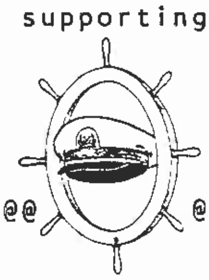
THE COMMODORE'S MESSAGE

DEAR MEMBERS:

This is my last Commodore's Message. I think we had a good boating season and that the membership is becoming closer to-gether in spirit and participation.

Our seasons last duty for this year is to attend the Annual General Meeting on December 4th at the Silva Bay Resort and our very last is to attend the New Year's Eve celebrations, also at Silva Bay Resort.

I would like to thank you all for supporting this years executive for a successful year.



Andre Lemieux
Commodore

PUBLICITY - EDITOR' NOTE

The end of the term has arrived and that means this will be the last Newsletter for me. I want to thank Wendy Hobbs for nominating me and for the members supporting me. It has been a great learning experience for me. Judy Bentzen was an inspiration with her help and her By-Line Judy's Nautical Nonsense. Thanks Judy. My thanks goes to the Executive for their support and also to all the members that sent in articules, recipes and valuable information for all members.

See you all at the Annual General Meeting, Silva Bay Resort, 1:00 P.M. and if not there at the New Year's Eve Dance.

GALLEY RANGE EXPLETIVES

"Chinese Style Stir Fry Fish"

1 lb Cod or other thick fish fillets, fresh or frozen.
1 8oz. can pineapple chunks
2 tbsp. sugar
4 tsp cornstarch
1 tbsp vinegar
1 tbsp soy sauce
1/2 tsp garlic salt
1/2 tsp ginger
1 tbsp cooking oil
1 8oz can water chestnuts, drained and sliced
1 cup green pepper strips
1 cup cherry tomato halves or medium size tomato cut in wedges
Fluffy cooked rice
Additional soy sauce

Thaw frozen fish. Cut crosswise into 1" slices. Drain pineapple chunks and save syrup or juice. Addwater to syrup to make one cup of liquid. Combine liquid, sugar, cornstarch, vinegar, soy sauce, garlic salt and ginger; stir until lump-free. Heat oil in Chinese wok or 10" frying pan over moderately high heat. Add fish; cook 3 to 5 min. or until firm, turning carefully. Add sauce mixture; cook until sauce is thickened and clear, stirring carefully. Add pineapple chunks, water chestnuts, green pepper strips and tomatoes; stir carefully to coat with sauce. Heat and serve immediately over rice with additional soy sauce. Make three to four servings.

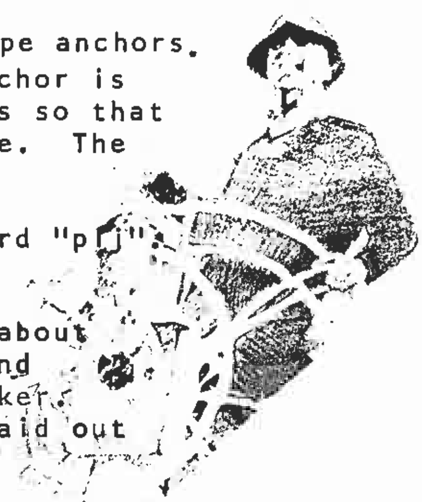
NAUTICAL DEFINITIONS



There's a nob on the end of the fluke of Admiralty-type anchors. This nob is known as the "bill" or "pee". When an anchor is hauled up over the gun,le it is left for a few moments so that the water will rundown over the flukes and off the pee. The anchor is said to be pee-ing.

Pea jacket is different as it comes from the Dutch word "pij". A coat of coarse woven cloth.

When we keep on to the bitter end we are not talking about something that's sharp or sour. The inboard end of and anchor cable was made fast to a bitt in the chain locker. When an anchor line was paid out, it was said to be paid out "to the bitter end."

Fly-by-night is not a guy who skips during the night with your money. The fly-by-night was actually a square sail which could easily be set on the mainmast or foremast of a schooner in a following wind. Usually it was set at night.

Lee-side is an old English word "hleo" and meant a shelter for cattle.

Full and bye is short for "full and by the wind" and calls for the helmsman to steer as close to the wind as possible without luffing. Spinning a yarn was done in the forecastle during bad weather. Sailors sat winding balls of yarn or surplus cordage, and while spinning the yarns they told each other tales of their life.

"Scuttlebutt" has to do with a cask "or butt" of fresh water located near the galley entrance or scuttle. Seamen gathered here to pass on news or chat.

"The Devil to pay". The outboard seam on a wooden ship is called the devil. It had to be caulked or "payed" with pitch. As it was the last seam to be tarred there was not enough pitch left and there was "the devil to pay".

SENT IN BY DAVE MACKENZIE. THANKS DAVE.
